

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft, curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who know their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by E. A. Drown & Co. in Barre and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food element, bitro-phosphate produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION!—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

Supt. G. W. Patterson began to arrange for the rural school positions in February and has succeeded in finding teachers enough for all the rural schools. Notwithstanding the shortage of teachers, the teaching force is well up to the standard of this district, all teachers having at least a year's professional training or experience. With the exception of this year's graduates of the teacher training class, the teachers have had an average of over four years' experience and all teachers have had some professional training and all but two have had at least a year of training. Most of the contracts will be signed after the boards organize next month, and the names of the teachers will be announced later.

Mrs. H. P. Sanford closed her house on Randolph avenue on Thursday and went to Winchester, Mass., to pass some time with her daughter, Mrs. John Abbott, expecting to return later in the season for a few weeks' stay at home.

Bethany guild met at the home of Abbie P. Clarke on Thursday afternoon with a small attendance owing to the excessive heat. At this time the guild pledged $25 toward the support of the district nurse.

Harold Sharpe, who was summoned from Boston by the death of his mother, was obliged to return to resume business on Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mann, also called here for the same purpose, returned to their home in Newport, N. H., Thursday.

Mrs. G. A. Chedel closed her house on School street Thursday and went to Mascoma lake, where she will pass the summer at her cottage and where Mr. Chedel can be there each night.

Mrs. Ernest Sawyer went to Bethel Thursday to visit her sister, Mrs. Martin Eszmann.

Mrs. VanDusen came from Barre on Thursday, where she had been for two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Allen, leaving her somewhat more comfortable and will be with another sister, Mrs. W. L. Hebard, at Randolph Center for the present.

EAST CORINTH

As no supply was available Sunday, Mrs. W. H. Thompson gave a report of the meeting of the Grafton-Orange association at Newbury June 13, which was very interesting.

Children's day is to be observed here Sunday, June 22. All come.

HARDWICK

The drama, "The Cricket on the Hearth," presented Wednesday evening at the opera house by the senior class of Hardwick academy, drew a full house and the entertainment was well worthy the patronage it received. The play has been under direction of Prof. J. H. Fuller and each character was well taken and the production showed faithful preparation. This play took the place of the usual class day exercises of commencement week. Thursday evening at the Congregational church parlors occurred the annual alumni banquet, which was largely attended. Ralph Smith acted as toastmaster and called on several speakers during the evening and the responses were all very interesting and the event was one of the most successful ever held by the association. Friday evening brings to a close the school year, with the graduation exercises and presentation of diplomas.

Lieut. Harold W. Batchelder arrived home Wednesday from the army hospital camp at Rahway, N. J., where he has been most of the time since his return from France, where he was quite severely injured in one foot. Harold was cited for bravery while in action.

W. H. Perry, another Hardwick boy who has seen service in France, arrived home this week and is visiting friends here for a time.

Mr. Beyor has moved into a tenement in the Stewart house on Church street. He is employed on the state road work.

Miss Hazel Stearns has finished work at the hospital and has gone to Newport to work.

The boy scouts are fast completing arrangements for their annual pilgrimage. This year it will be Caspian lake, and the date has been set for Monday, June 30, when they will leave headquarters for that beautiful body of water.

Cecil Thomas is home from his work in Portsmouth, N. H.

Howard Townsend and Joe Cordella left Thursday morning for Marblehead, Mass., where they have employment in a summer hotel.

Howard Lewis is home from his work in Bristol, Conn., and attended commencement exercises of Hardwick academy, besides visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. St. John and daughter arrived in town a few days since for the summer.

WAR SERVICE FOR WOMEN

REQUIRES HEALTH AND STRENGTH

When was there ever a time when women were doing so much for mankind—and when was the health and strength of our women more vital to the very existence of our country. We can safely say Never. Their sacrifices, their industry, their courage, their patriotism is beautiful beyond words of description. But what of the poor one who wants to help but cannot because she is oppressed by some feminine disorder. To such we recommend with utmost confidence our successful old remedy and insert following a letter from one who proved its value.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss Flo Kelly, 476 South 14th Street, Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

NORTHFIELD

W. G. Byam is moving back to his farm and John A. Aldrich will take his place in Mrs. Carrie Brown's house, caring for Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. C. C. Paine is visiting in St. Albans and is marketing strawberries there from the Paine farm, whose entire produce at present is going to that city. Berries had dropped to 25 cents locally last evening and some producers were selling them at the garden for 20 cents.

Mrs. E. E. Cagne is a large local strawberry producer.

The leather workers' union held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, and under the new constitution the semi-annual election of officers was held, with the result that the same officers and executive board were re-elected who were chosen recently when the union was organized.

Lee Lavers, when working on the Central Vermont railway section under Foreman Charles M. Come Wednesday, received a blow from a sledge hammer in the hands of Ernest C. Brown which inflicted a painful though not dangerous wound in his forehead. Profuse bleeding may have averted more serious results. He was hurried to the village for surgical care.

Mrs. R. M. Chase has been at Duxbury, Mass., most of the week closing her cottage for the season, preparatory to being in Bethel this season.

TINY TOWN TO BE MODEL CITY.

School Children of Springfield, Mo., at Work on Miniature Houses.

Tiny town, a Lilliputian city with all the latest ideas in architecture, the grouping of houses and landscape gardening, is to be built in Springfield, Mo. The city is to occupy a subdivision, 1,320 by 1,860 feet, with a 120-foot boulevard, and 700 contracts have been let. The wholesale construction project is in charge of the students of the city manual training school, and they are now working hard to complete model churches and schools and beautiful residences.

Tiny town is an enterprise undertaken as part of Springfield's "build now" campaign. "The plan is to interest the community in home-owning through the school children," says the report sent to the United States department of labor by the chamber of commerce. "We intend to build a miniature city with everything complete and have it installed in our convention hall with real grass growing in the yards and parkways. The build now committee of the chamber of commerce is furnishing all the material for the construction of Tiny town and is providing prizes in money that will aggregate at least $600.

The scale of Tiny town is half an inch to the foot. Each boy will receive an assignment of a tract of ground to suit the improvements that he agrees to undertake and building permits will specify the materials to be used. Some of the pupils will erect churches and schools. A power plant, a street car system, and other public utilities will be installed. But interest focuses in the homes. Sixth and seventh grade pupils are vying with high school students in the planning and building of bungalows and garages.

One of the contests arranged for the art classes interested in building Tiny town will center in the working out of floor plans, interior decorations, color schemes, floor coverings, and furnishings. Each room will be illustrated by showing four walls in chart form drawn to a scale. Wall paper, window draperies, and tapestries will be suggested in colors. A chart of the floors will show furniture arrangement with samples of upholstery in fabrics that carry out the ideas expressed in the color scheme and treatment of the room. This interior decoration branch of the project will be entrusted to the girls, who will make estimates of the costs involved in furnishing each room.

Landscape gardening will occupy much attention, the idea being to illustrate the possibilities of unified treatment. The expense involved in building each home will be worked out on the normal cost basis, so that by reference to block and lot numbers marked on each improvement the exact outlay necessary may be ascertained. Prospective builders who desire to copy any house in Tiny town may thus learn the probable cost of a full-sized structure.

The miniature city will cover ten blocks, and, except for a corner grocery or drug store, business structures will not be included.

Mrs. Levi H. Brown fell recently while alighting from an automobile in Vergennes, cracking three ribs and bruising one arm. She had her young daughter in her arms, but the child escaped with slight bruises.
